SMALL ANIMAL RADIOLOGIST

AniCura Aquivet, Centre Hospitalier Vétérinaire, Bordeaux, France

The “Centre Hospitalier Vétérinaire (CHV) ANICURA AQUIVET” is seeking a board certified or board-eligible radiologist (ECVDI or ACVR) to join our current team of small animal specialists.

AQUIVET is a 2006 established referral and emergency practice, housed in a dedicated 1000 m2 hospital located in the periphery of Bordeaux, France.

We are planning to move to a brand new 2800 m2 Hospital in 2024.

We offer multiple speciality services in Surgery, Internal Medicine, Cardiology, Radiology, Ophthalmology, Dermatology and Physiotherapy. A 24-hour, 7 days a week emergency service is also available on site. All services work together in order to offer excellence in patient care, owners and referring veterinarians satisfaction. Patient care and teamwork are emphasized. A highly friendly work atmosphere and a good work/personal balance are paramount to us. A well-trained team of 34 veterinary technicians/nurses is dedicated to patient monitoring and treatments, and completes our team of 39 veterinarians.

The successful applicant would work within the Radiology Service with one board eligible veterinary radiologist, a consultant board certified veterinary radiologist, a radiology clinician and a team of 4 dedicated nurses. Publication, CPD and staff training are encouraged and supported but not mandatory. A full-time 4 day-a -week position would be preferable but a part-time position is possible. Locum could also be considered in the short term during the recruitment period.

Our facility consists of 9 examination rooms, and is fully equipped with digital radiology, ultrasound room, endoscopy room, 3 surgery suites, in-house laboratory, in-house 84 slices CT with angiographic features and physical therapy room. Access to an off-site 1,5 T MRI and fluoroscopy suite/cath lab is available on a weekly basis.
