

LSU Agricultural Center Graduate Assistantship Program Application

The LSU Agricultural Center's Graduate Assistantship program is seeking highly qualified applicants for assistantships to study under the mentorship of outstanding researchers in our 10 graduate degree programs. All applications are welcome, but preference will be given to students seeking Ph.D. degrees.

The following GRE, GPA, and TOEFL guidelines will be evaluated with other evidence of the applicant's potential success in pursuing a graduate degree. Master's degree applicants should have an undergraduate GPA of 3.0 overall and 3.25 for the last two years. Ph.D. applicants should have a cumulative graduate GPA of 3.6. The writing score should be at least 4.0. Non-native English-speaking candidates should have a documented TOEFL score of 90 (iBT), 233 (CBT), 577 (PBT), or above.

Your application package must include a letter of professional intent, your resume, and a letter of support from your major advisor or visiting scholar mentor. Your letter of intent should explain your interest in this field and your ultimate career goals.

Applications are currently being accepted.
